Every town in Connecticut can boast cultural assets that contribute to a vibrant community and improve the quality of life for its residents.

What are some exciting arts and cultural events and organizations that you have experienced in your community?

Ridgefield ACT and Playhouse, Wilton Theatre,

If elected, will you work to strengthen the arts and culture community in the town(s) you serve? If so, how? If not, why?

I will work with organizations to find ways that I can help them achieve their goals through state assistance where possible.

Sandwiched between Boston and New York, Connecticut is often dismissed as a “pass through” state when it comes to tourism. Yet, our state has many world class arts institutions and a rich cultural landscape.

Why do you think arts and culture are important in Connecticut? What is unique about our state’s arts and culture?

Connecticut has many great museums and theatre venues that attract the talent in New York to come and work here. We find the arts in Connecticut and the venues available more intimate and with the same opportunities as larger cities.

During the Covid-19 pandemic, many people discovered that arts and creativity play a critical role in helping us cope with emotional stress and sustain our mental health. Art helped us process loss, fight loneliness, stay connected and feel hopeful.

Can you share a way that the arts have helped you, your family or your community get through the difficult times of Covid? How will that experience influence choices about the arts you would make as a legislator?

I read WAR and PEACE as a group with the people here in my home. We also watched Hamilton together and many PBS specials. I will always support public arts and programming.

The arts and creativity have a proven track record of economic benefit to our state. The National Endowment for the Arts' Office of Research & Analysis and the Bureau of Economic Analysis report that, in 2020, arts and cultural production in Connecticut added $8.9 billion to our economy and accounted for 3.2 percent of our gross state product, while the arts and cultural industries employed 49,159 workers with wages and benefits totaling more than $5.1 billion. Despite these contributions, the arts have historically been first on the chopping block when it comes to budget priorities. What would you do to help keep arts and creativity funded in our state at a level that recognizes their economic importance?

Every decision made today in government should be through the lenses of environmental and human impact. The arts make us stronger and wiser and help us experience our shared humanity.

Connecticut has not had an Arts Education Specialist at the State Department of Education (SDE) since 2016, when the last specialist left. This position is critical to assuring that our State and National Arts Education Standards are consistently implemented in all of Connecticut's school districts, especially those in under-resourced communities where students' access to the Arts is often extremely limited compared to affluent communities.

If elected, would you support refilling the Arts Education Specialist at SDE? If not, why?

Great question. I will have to learn more. My opposition is promoting "local control" and I feel that we can do better when the state and local leaders work together.
